

CREDIT UNION E-NOTIFICATION

There is a growing trend with people receiving communications through email. At BCU, we are always looking at ways to improve our service to you in a sustainable way and reduce the amount of paper you receive at home. We are currently inviting members to make the switch to receiving regulatory communications from us by email.

Every year, we are required by legislation to send every member an AGM notice and a copy of audited financial accounts. By signing up to electronic notifications, you can help us save the thousands of euros that printing and posting these booklets cost each year. Plus, you'll be doing your bit for our environment.

Switching today is quick and costs nothing. These notifications will be delivered straight to your email inbox, which you can easily access whenever you need to.

By signing up, you will receive your AGM notification, statements and any other regulatory information from us via email.
